OPEN HOUSES FOR BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

Introducing 2012 Code Changes

In an effort to enhance communication between the construction industry and the Department of Permitting Services, the Division of Building Construction is holding a series of open house sessions. The sessions will focus on, new Executive Regulations adopting the 2012 ICC Codes, significant code changes from previous editions, affected policies and procedures, and code interpretations.

Industry concerns and other topics affecting the residential and commercial construction industries will be addressed as time permits or in future sessions. Beginning in September 2012 open house sessions will be held according to the schedule below.

Please click on each session that you would like to register for. You must register for each session separately.
